PRIESTS TRAINING FUND ANNUAL APPEAL

The motto of Allen Hall, in nearby Beaufort Street, where some of the men training to work as priests in this diocese live and study, is Vivamus in spe – May we live in hope. As we face all sorts of challenges and many people are in desperate situations, faith and hope are needed. Our seminarians work in parishes, schools, hospitals and hospices, as well as prisons, with refugees, and anywhere where a Catholic presence can make a contribution.

In all they do, they strive to be formed in the image of Jesus, who came not to be served, but to serve. They come from a wide range of backgrounds, countries, and religious congregations. It is their desire to be formed in the image of Christ unites them, and creates an even stronger bond to their faith.

There are currently 46 men in formation at Allen Hall, including 25 for Westminster Diocese. Another two are pursuing their studies in Rome. To form and educate a new priest costs £25,000 per year: that's around £150,000 over the total course of training.

Can you help to support our seminarians in their vital mission?

- Pray for vocations and our seminarians
